
MAMI

Daniel A. Ruiz Ramos

Oye, MAMI...

You're quite the Wonder Woman
You're always doing shows of strength
Always worrying about me
Always talking to me about life
Always teaching me something new every day.

Thank you so much
From the bottom of my heart
But, like everything, we can't win against the power of time
And, not trying to be mean, you're getting old
And you have a lot of health issues
So, please, I'm begging you, take some time off and relax
Let's have a weekend just to ourselves and let's have a good time.

Because I don't want to lose you
And it worries me so much
And I do know I may not seem to care or that I may be annoyed with you
If you see it like that, then I'm so sorry
But please take care of yourself
Because I want you to see the fruit of your hard work.
I want you to see me going to university
I want you to meet my future girlfriend
I want you to see when I get my first job
I want you to see when I buy my first house
I want you to meet your future grandkids
I want to be by your side when you pass away in a hospital bed.

I don't want to see you stressed
I don't want to be mad with your job
I don't want to see tired and annoyed
I don't want to see lonely
I don't want you to be angry with me
I don't want you to regret things
I don't want to lose your light now.

I want you to see the man I become
The son you raised
Together with my grandmothers, grandfathers, aunts and uncles
I want to see the great mother and grandmother you will be
After everything is said and done, just know you've been a GREAT MOM.
So thank you for every single thing in my life
I love you so, so much.
Thank you
